VOLUNTEER, IT'S CHIC!
FIND YOUR STYLE ON JEBENEVOLE.CA

For Volunteer Week 2020, the Fédération des centres d'action bénévole du Québec is looking to show the chic side of volunteering. By chic, we mean the elegance of volunteer actions filled with courtesy and kindness. Chic, because volunteers are gracious in giving without expecting anything in return. Chic in the sense of generous, as in the expression "a classy guy" or "a classy girl". Chic in noting the pleasure and satisfaction that volunteers feel when giving of themselves.

Volunteer Week is the opportunity to recognize and celebrate volunteers. Let's take advantage of the occasion to do so in a chic fashion because volunteers deserve it!

THE VISUAL

Just like a bow tie, volunteering is never out of fashion and is accessible to all – men and women, young and old, from all origins and milieus and in every community.

The four colourful squares making up the larger square speak to the strength of coming together through volunteering, and also to the group spirit generated by volunteers. The larger square represents the stability and resilience created in communities by the day-to-day actions of volunteers.

FIND YOUR STYLE!

Every year, it's the same: there are always new trends and we waste a huge amount of time finding the style that suits us best. Stop racking your brains: volunteer, it's guaranteed to be chic and is never out of fashion! There are styles for every taste, all over Québec, pleasure ensured! So, take two minutes and find your style on the jebenevole.ca website. It's free and for sure it's chic!

To each his or her volunteering style, that's the strength of volunteerism and of those who engage in it.

It's up to you to find your style!
